I. GENERAL

A. Executive Summary

Five Year Strategic Plan Executive Summary

The Mendocino County Abbreviated Consolidated Plan is a five-year plan covering FY 2011- FY 2016 and is required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The Mendocino County Abbreviated Consolidated Plan has been prepared to summarize and illustrate activities included in the County's Continuum of Care service and delivery system for the homeless and to ensure county government and other county entities are eligible to apply for Continuum of Care funding from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Mission:

Mendocino County's Continuum of Care mission is to create an effective continuum of housing and support services for the homeless of Mendocino County.

Continuum of Care goals are as follows:

- Assist homeless persons to obtain affordable housing;
- Integrate the county's providers of service to the homeless and link them with providers of housing, to create a comprehensive program to alleviate homelessness.
- Increase the number of emergency shelter beds, particularly in geographically remote areas of the county, and strengthen the emergency services system.
- Assist individuals and families facing eviction to retain housing.
- Strengthen the support services system for homeless families and individuals in transitional and permanent supportive housing.
- Increase the number of decent, safe, sanitary, and affordable subsidized permanent housing units, and decent, safe, sanitary, and affordable subsidized permanent units offering support services, for the disabled homeless and those disabled persons at-risk of homelessness without discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, or disability.
- Preserve and retain the affordable housing stock.
- Increase the supply of supportive housing which includes structural features and services to enable persons with special needs (including persons with HIV/AIDS) to live in dignity and independence.

The Abbreviated Consolidated Plan serves the following functions:

- A planning document for the Mendocino County Continuum of Care (is consistent with jurisdictional planning documents such as the Housing Element);
- A strategy to be followed in carrying out HUD programs; and
- An action plan that provides a basis for assessing performance.

The Abbreviated Consolidated Plan is organized as follows;

- The Abbreviated Consolidated Plan is a strategic plan that includes six main sections: General, Description of Need, Homeless Assistance Needs and Strategy, Homeless Assistance Resources, Market Characteristics, and Strategic Goals.

The Abbreviated Consolidated Plan was developed by the Continuum of Care Lead Agency Mendocino County in consultation with the Homeless Service Planning Group (HSPG) consisting of public and private entities, including governmental and nonprofit organizations knowledgeable about the needs of the homeless residents of Mendocino County, and private citizens interested in, or affected by, the housing and community development activities discussed in the plan.

B. Background and Program Summary

The fundamental components of a Continuum of Care system are:

- Outreach and assessment to identify an individual's or family's needs and help them connect with facilities and services.
- Immediate emergency shelter and safe, decent alternatives to homelessness.
- Transitional housing with appropriate support services to help people reach and maintain independent living. Such services may include job training and placement, substance abuse treatment, mental health services, and independent living skills training.
- Permanent housing or permanent supportive housing facilities and services.

The Mendocino County Continuum of Care system is managed and coordinated by the Homeless Services Planning Group (HSPG) (Please see Figure 1, HSPG Membership on page 3). The HSPG represents a collaboration of thirty primary decision making organizations, 48 committee/sub committee participating member organizations and seven community organizations convened and facilitated by the Lead Agency Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency (HHSA), Social Services Branch. The role and responsibility of the HSPG is to develop, plan, and coordinate resources and systems in order to reduce homelessness in Mendocino County and assist the county's homeless achieve residential stability. The primary organizations serve as the policy setting body for the Supportive Housing Program (SHP) and Shelter Plus Care (S+C) Program.

In the mid-eighties, the Mendocino County Housing Task Force was established as the first local body dedicated to the needs of the homeless. The Mendocino County Board of Supervisors assigned the Task Force to study the needs of homelessness in the county, assess conditions and challenges faced by the homeless and make recommendations for action. In 1993, many of those participating on the Housing Task Force convened as the Homeless Services Planning Group to respond to that year's HUD Notice of Funding Availability for McKinney funding for the homeless. As a result, the Seamless Transition Empowerment Program (STEP) was established which fixed the HSPG as the group responsible for county-wide planning and oversight of services and resources for the homeless.

The HSPG is the primary decision-making body of the Mendocino Continuum of Care (CoC). Convened by the Mendocino County HHSA, Social Services Branch, HSPG meets monthly and includes at least thirty organizations from across the County. The HSPG is led by a Core Team that makes many of the CoC's decisions. In 1993, the HSPG became the official homeless-coordinating body for the community, but the group tracks its lineage as far back as the mid-1980's when the Board of Supervisors first appointed the HSPG's predecessor, the Mendocino County Housing Task Force.

The CoC addresses the County's geographic division by hosting monthly HSPG meetings, meeting on the coast as needed. To keep the two groups aligned, a few people attend both meetings. This structure seems to be effective for the CoC and indicates flexibility and best use of scarce resources. North County is largely isolated from the rest of the County, and is not largely reflected in the CoC planning process, although there have been several efforts to increase homelessness planning in that area in the past. That part of the County is made up of mostly Indian Reservations, and generally there is a lack of interest or commitment in that area to increasing homeless services, due to the prevalence of other serious concerns.

The HSPG meetings cover a range of topics and community concerns, including program outcomes, referrals, data collections, and agency announcements. Of note, the groups discuss several types of funding (including several types of HUD funding, showing a large degree of coordination among different funding sources). The primary activities of the CoC are case conferencing, insuring a continuum of housing and services, meeting HUD obligations, and applying for HUD or other funding.

The CoC includes Case Conferencing groups both inland and on the coast. The groups are led by the two main homeless services non-profits, Hospitality House/Center and Ford Street Project. All CoC members sign a code of conduct and confidentiality/privacy statement, and the CoC developed steps to address any breaches of confidentiality.

Governance

The HSPG Core Group sets CoC policy, sets agendas for the full HSPG meetings, and determines project priorities. The group rates and assesses project performance through site visits, reviewing appropriate documentation (audits, leverage letters, APRs, etc.), and surveying clients. The group works both by consensus and by voting, with members abstaining if a conflict of interest exists.

Membership

Regarding CoC membership, the CoC has found success in a degree of informality. All agencies or organizations that serve homeless people in the County are encouraged to join the CoC. Membership includes a number of non-profits (77 percent of membership is private), including some focused on youth, and several county agencies. The County Veteran Services Officer also participates, and the new HUD-VASH vouchers are likely to increase veteran representation in CoC activities. The coastal group includes advocates and more faith-based participation, which members find useful and hope for similar participation at the inland group in the future. As a corollary, faith-based organizations are helpful on the coast with providing emergency housing and services. Members identified a need for additional participation by representatives from community health clinics, substance use services, vocational training programs, and the Native American population.

The CoC has detailed, written, formal Policies and Procedures which cover service rules for HUD-funded programs, CoC confidentiality, services provision and documentation, referral policies, CoC-wide case management plans, program rules, and definitions. This manual is an important first step in formalizing the CoC and unusual in a CoC of this size.

The Abbreviated Consolidated Plan was developed with involvement of the HSPG, which includes county government, public agencies, private non-profits, and community groups. Ideas and subsequent goals have been developed at retreats, strategic planning sessions and regional sub-groups of the entire membership. Citizen participation was invited at three public hearings held in Ukiah, Fort Bragg and Willits.

II. DESCRIPTION OF NEED

A. Mendocino County Geographic and Economic Profile

Mendocino County is a rural area in the north coast region of California, approximately 100 miles north of the San Francisco Bay Area. The county comprises approximately 3,878 square miles of land making it the 14th largest county (out of 58) in California. In 2010 the persons per square mile is 25 compared to 238.9 persons per square mile in California.¹ The Coastal Mountain Range, a formidable geographic barrier, divides the coastal and interior regions of the county. On the eastern side of the range lies Mendocino County's interior which consists of a series of deep valleys running north and south. Fifty percent of Mendocino County's population of 87,841² lives in the interior region's greater Ukiah area. Ukiah, the county seat, is located on Highway 101, a major artery out of the San Francisco Bay Area. Twenty two percent of the population lives in the northern interior region, which includes Willits. The remaining 28 percent live in the coastal region. The city of Fort Bragg is the largest community and business center for the coastal area. Fort Bragg is a one-and-one-half-hour drive from Ukiah.

Mendocino County's economy is primarily service-based. The county is a chronically depressed rural area. Jobs are few, housing is scarce and expensive in comparison to wage levels, and the services that are available are limited. Mendocino County's rates of poverty and unemployment consistently run higher than rates for California as a whole. The 2009 median household income³ of $41,488 was only 70 percent of the statewide average, ($58,925). The median household income in 2000 was $47,493 a 6.9 percent decrease. The 2009 poverty level for Mendocino County was 17.5 percent compared to a statewide poverty level of 14.2 percent. The unemployment rate for 2000 was 5.6 percent with the previous 12 month period of 11.0

percent and the current 12 month period of 11.3 percent (from July 2011).⁴ As of June 2011, Mendocino County had 4,660 unemployed people out of a work force of 42,820. The state's unemployment rate was 12.1 percent; the national rate for June 2011 was 9.2 percent with Mendocino County at 10.9 percent.

Current census estimates for 2009⁵ indicate that 17.5 percent of all of the households in the county have incomes below poverty level; 24.6 percent of children age 0 – 17 are living in poverty. An estimated 8,260 (9.2 percent of the 2008 population) residents received public assistance which includes CalWorks, Foster Care, Welfare to Work and Calfresh (food stamps). Over 22 percent of county residents are Medi-Cal recipients, and almost 38 percent of the county's population is considered no longer in the labor force⁶. One indicator of the extent of the poverty in the geographical regions of the county is the number of households receiving Calfresh (food stamps) in each area (See Figure 3 following, data gathered 2010).

B. Nature and Extent of Homeless Population

In May 2005 the County of Mendocino, with funding from the Cities of Ukiah, Willits and Fort Bragg, contracted with Applied Survey Research to organize and implement the first countywide survey of homeless people. A Point-in-Time (PIT) count survey of homeless persons has been conducted biennially since. The PIT is conducted during the last 10 days of January nationwide.

The 2011 Mendocino County Homeless Census and Survey identified a total count of 1,456 homeless people during the time period of the count. There were 1,314 persons, or nearly 90 percent counted in the point-in-time street census, and 142 persons, or over 9.7 percent, counted in the sheltered census.

The methodology used for the study has been cited as a recommended approach by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The first component of this methodology was a peer-oriented, point-in-time count of street and sheltered homeless people conducted on January 27, 2011. The street count included a systematic canvassing of Mendocino County. This enumeration was performed between 5 a.m. and 9 a.m., with afternoon and evening enumeration conducted for special groups. The shelter count involved reporting occupancies for the night prior to the census date from emergency shelters, transitional housing programs, and hotels and motels that accept vouchers.

The second component of the project consisted of comprehensive one-on-one interviews conducted by trained homeless workers and service providers. The results of the survey were then collated to generate a profile of the County's homeless population.⁷

The following tables from the Census and Survey illustrate the total number of homeless by location:

Based on the 2010 census population from the State U. S. Census Bureau, the 2011 PIT homeless county represents almost two percent of Mendocino County's total population of 87,841.

The California Research Bureau estimates that approximately 361,000 people are homeless in California state at any one time (approximately one percent of the general population), and estimates the number of people who experience homelessness over the course of a year to be between one and two million people, or between three percent and four percent of the state's population.⁸ The Urban Institute estimates the number of people who experience homelessness over the course of a year in the United States to be approximately 3.5 million people, or about one percent of the United States' total population.⁹

⁷ It should be noted that like almost all homeless surveys, the respondent sample was not truly random. The fact that over 43 percent of the observed homeless population was surveyed creates confidence in the findings.

⁸ Foster, Lisa K. and Snowdon, Patricia, Addressing Long-Term Homelessness: Permanent Supportive Housing, California Research Bureau. August 2003.

Though the mean rate of homelessness is just under 23 persons per 10,000, there are a number of CoCs with very high rates—the ten highest have rates between 96 and 216 people per 10,000. While seven out of ten of the highest rates of homelessness are Urban, only three are big cities. Detroit, MI has the highest rate of homelessness in the United States, with over 216 people per 10,000. Mendocino County, CA, and Monroe County, FL, both Rural CoCs, follow at second and third with 161 people per 10,000 and 147 homeless people per 10,000 respectively.¹⁰

Homelessness is very much a local issue with 43.3 percent of the survey respondents to the 2011 PIT Homeless Survey indicating they had been living in Mendocino County at the time they became homeless. The primary reasons given for becoming homeless were economic with slightly more than 25 percent of survey respondents indicating the loss of a job or inability to pay rent or mortgage as the primary event or condition that led to their current episode of homelessness. Fifty-two percent of respondents indicated this is the first time they have become homeless. Thirty-one percent have been homeless for less than six months with 26 percent homeless from six months to a year. Twenty-one percent of respondents indicated either mental health issues, or alcohol/drug abuse as the primary precipitator of homelessness. Many of these individuals and families are in a cycle of crisis and recurring homelessness, needing economic stability, treatment and primary health care.

Description of Homeless:

1. An individual who lacks a fixed, regular and adequate nighttime residence, and
2. An individual who has a primary residence that is:
 - a. A supervised publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodation (including welfare hotels, congregate shelters and transitional housing for the mentally ill), or
 - b. An institution that provides a temporary residence for individuals intended to be institutionalized, or
 - c. A public or private place not designed for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings.

Chronically Homeless Person or Family:

An unaccompanied homeless individual (18 or older) with a disabling condition or a family with at least one adult member (18 or older) who has a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years.¹¹

For the purposes of the 2011 Mendocino County Homeless Census and Survey, a “disabling condition” is defined as a physical or mental disability (including depression), alcohol or drug addiction, HIV/AIDS, or chronic health conditions. Based on the 559 homeless persons interviewed for the survey, 260 chronically homeless individuals and 52 chronically homeless families were counted using the above criteria.

The chronically homeless survey results were then used to project approximately how many people experience chronic homelessness in Mendocino County at a given point in time. It is estimated that on any given night Mendocino County has a chronically homeless population of approximately 684. It should be noted that the chronically homeless percentage is applied only to the census population that may be considered chronically homeless by the guidelines listed previously. This figure is high in comparison to a common estimate that the chronically homeless represent ten percent of the homeless population.¹² However, a recent study in Pasadena, CA reported approximately 50 percent of their homeless population to be defined as chronically homeless,¹³ and a similar study in Portland, OR estimates 40 percent of their homeless population as chronically homeless.¹⁴

Ukiah and Inland Mendocino County. Until the 1970's, one of California's largest mental hospitals was located in Ukiah. When the State closed the hospital, scores of patients were released into the community without adequate provision for their housing or care. Many of these still live in the area, forming the core of the seriously mentally ill (SMI) homeless population in the area.

The northern portion of the county extends to the Round Valley/Covelo area, with a large Native American population, and increasing lack of accessibility to resources the farther north one travels. The effects of poverty are perhaps most severe in this isolated region where the poorest county residents and the homeless do not have ready access to resources.

Mendocino County Coast. The coastal area of Mendocino County (which includes ten communities scattered along a 90 mile stretch of remote coastal highway), like the county as a whole, is economically depressed. The decline of the timber and fishing industries has exacerbated poor economic conditions, and as a result, there are increasing numbers of families and individuals becoming homeless and in need of assistance. Like the inland areas of the county, the Mendocino County coast attracts homeless people from urban areas because of the beaches and campgrounds that are available during the relatively moderate year-round climate.

Finally, through anecdotal evidence provided by General Assistance, Adult Protective Services and Children's Protective Services case workers, it is clear the farther from the main population areas one travels to the remote areas of the county, the more severe the hardship faced by homeless residents becomes, due to lack of access to housing and support services.

III. HOMELESS ASSISTANCE NEEDS AND STRATEGY

A. Background

Until the collapse of the mortgage industry, Mendocino County experienced a major influx of middle and upper-middle class people migrating from urban areas, thereby creating a serious housing shortage. As a result, housing costs skyrocketed. The demand for housing created a landlord's market, in which people compete for rental units as they become available. Given the local housing shortage and escalating housing costs, those who lose their housing as a result of a personal economic crisis have a difficult time competing in the housing market with people who can provide strong references and an eviction-free record. The mortgage industry collapse has caused homeowners to foreclose and enter into the rental market. Those who have a long history of homelessness and those who have become involved in the cycle of recurring homelessness have almost no chance. Many have bad credit ratings, have been evicted in the past, or simply have no way to raise the first and last months rent and security deposit most landlords require.

B. Vacancy Rate

Despite the growth in the number of rental units in the unincorporated area, the vacancy rate declined significantly between 1990 and 2000. On the other hand, the vacancy rate for ownership units increased slightly (Table 2-23). Vacancy rates for both renter and homeowner units are lower in the cities and higher in the unincorporated areas according to the 2000 Census. The California Department of Finance (DOF) utilizes a different methodology for calculating vacancy rates and consequently, reports a different vacancy rate. Since 2000, vacancy rates in the unincorporated county remained strikingly consistent at 12.5 percent for the entire time period. According to the DOF, nearly 3,500 units of all types across unincorporated Mendocino County were vacant. Given the range of time between 2000 and present and the events that transpired over the past decade (a building boom followed by a foreclosure surge), the vacancy rate is almost certainly higher than the 1.4 percent identified above.

Among the most troubling challenges facing Mendocino County is how to stabilize and house chronically homeless people who struggle with disabilities such as severe mental illness, chronic substance abuse and health problems including HIV infection and AIDS. Many of these repeatedly cycle between the streets, emergency shelters, jails, and hospital emergency rooms, often receiving costly but ultimately ineffective crisis intervention and rarely accessing the intensive community services they need to end recurrent episodes of homelessness and effectively treat their chronic health problems.

To break the cycle of recurring homelessness, families and individuals need crisis intervention, shelter and support services buttressed by the security of transitional housing, and the opportunity to develop skills leading to independent living and permanent housing. The disabled, and very low income families with children, need access to subsidized permanent housing like S+C and Section 8. The HSPG has constructed a coordinated system of supportive services to address both the immediate needs and the underlying issues related to homelessness to improve residential stability, increase skill levels and income, and provide greater self-determination for homeless families and disabled individuals. The SHP program “structure” has a foundation and a framework.

C. Homeless Assistance Needs

Since the implementation of the STEP program in 1995, case loads have consistently been larger than originally anticipated. The capacity rates are over the proposed numbers in the SHP-STEP Grant Applications.

Project Capacity

STEP Grant	2007/2008	Capacity Rates	2008/2009	Capacity Rates
Families- 75	88	109%	78	104%
Adults in Families- 90	127		108
Children in Families-135	144		133
Individuals- 90	155	172%	125	139%

The Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) data collection requirements changed in March 2010. The Annual Performance Report (APR) format changed for the 2009/2010 reporting year based on the new HMIS data standards and persons served is calculated over the entire grant year.

Number of persons served during the operating year

	Total	Without Children (Individuals)	With Children and Adults (Families)
Adults	547	451	96
Children	141		141
Total	688	451	237

Since 1998, SHP-funded case management has been severely under-funded. The original SHP STEP grant funded in 1995 was written with the case management portion to be implemented by the staff of the resource centers, focused specifically on moving clients through the County Continuum of Care for shelter and housing. In 1998, funding suffered a 55 percent cut. The effect of this decrease in funding was to entirely eliminate SHP-funded case management and require community mainstream providers of supportive and treatment services to pick up all case management activities.

Implementation has been far from ideal. As has been shown in communities across the country, expecting case management to be provided by mainstream agencies does not result in focused attention on housing stability through the continuum of care. Case management is a concern not only for active SHP STEP participants, but also for those who move into permanent supportive housing in S+C. This issue continues to be one of the most challenging facing the Mendocino County Continuum of Care.

The Homeless Emergency Assistance and Rapid Transition to Housing (HEARTH) Act, signed into law on May 20, 2009 reauthorizes the McKinney-Vento Act to make some key changes. The first change is the definition of homelessness. The proposed regulation on HUD's new definition of homelessness included in the HEARTH Act has been released. This will have a broad impact on programs serving persons who are homeless. As the HEARTH Act is activated in communities, the hope is that these issues will be addressed. At this time, only the definition of homeless has changed.

The proposed regulation provides guidance to determine whether a person is homeless under four categories.

1. People who are living in a place not meant for human habitation, in emergency shelter, in transitional housing, or are exiting an institution where they temporarily resided. The only significant change from existing practice is that people will be considered homeless if they are exiting an institution where they resided for up to 90 days (it was previously 30 days), and were homeless immediately prior to entering that institution.
2. People who are losing their primary nighttime residence, which may include a motel or hotel or a doubled up situation, in 14 days and lack resources or support networks to remain in housing. HUD had previously allowed people who were being displaced within 7 days to be considered homeless. The proposed regulation also describes specific documentation requirements for this category.
3. Families with children or unaccompanied youth who are unstably housed and likely to continue in that state. This is a new category of homelessness, and it applies to families with children and unaccompanied youth who have not had a lease or ownership interest in a housing unit in the last 91 or more days, have had three or more moves in the last 90 days, and who are likely to continue to be unstably housed because of disability or multiple barriers to employment.
4. People who are fleeing or attempting to flee domestic violence to obtain other permanent housing. This category is similar to the current practice regarding people who are fleeing domestic violence.

The HEARTH ACT overview of future changes:

- What is now the “Continuum of Care” (CoC) with a few more responsibilities will become “Collaborative Applicant” (CA)
- CA can receive some funds to do the work it is required to do (up to 3 percent of CoC grant)
- CA can take on more responsibilities (key tasks related to grants management and oversight) and receive even more funding (up to 6 percent). If it does, it will be called a “United Funding Agency” (UFA)

D. Other gaps in the Mendocino County Continuum of Care for the homeless include:

Housing/Shelter

- Emergency shelter beds for those homeless residing in the North County;
- Battered women’s shelter on the Mendocino Coast;
- Adequate transitional housing for individuals moving from shelter, but not yet prepared for permanent housing;
- Affordable permanent housing countywide.

Support Services

- Adequate treatment options for homeless persons with a dual diagnosis of serious mental illness and substance abuse;
- Adequate substance abuse treatment for Medi-Cal recipients and other low-income homeless residents;
- Adequate staffing and resources at the Resource Centers for the homeless, countywide;
- Job training and placement tailored to address the special needs of the chronically homeless;

E. Homeless Assistance Strategy

Development of a Continuum of Care system for the homeless in Mendocino County is difficult because of the County’s large size and remote areas. The Continuum of Care strategy developed by the HSPG to address homelessness, the SHP STEP program, attempts to respond to geographic isolation through the placement of resource centers on the coast, north county and inland. The STEP resource centers serve as primary points of entry into the SHP STEP program, provide emergency services, and refer the homeless to treatment programs to address underlying causes of homelessness. STEP resource centers are located inland and on the coast. North County has the Willits Community Service that operates as a food bank and a resource center for emergency and referral needs of the north county homeless.

Specialized Funding For the County Continuum of Care:

The Mendocino County Continuum of Care for the Homeless is based on the following HUD-financed programs:

- The S+C Program was funded for five years in 1995, in the amount of $1,800,000. The program is administered by the Community Development Commission (CDC). Subsequently they were awarded an additional three-year grant and now operate on one year funding renewals. The fiscal year 2011/2012 allocation is $1,380,192 for TRA and $46,512 for SRA.
- The SHP Supportive Opportunities for Permanent Housing (SOPH) Program was awarded to Ford Street Project for 2 units with 6 beds. The units are the first HUD funded beds in the North County. The fiscal year 2011/2012 allocation is $73,816.
- The SHP STEP Program was funded for three years in 1994, through HUD’s SHP Rural Homeless Initiative Program in the amount of $1,317,459, and renewed for three more years in 1998, in the amount of $600,000. Fiscal year 2005/2006 funding allocations were $200,077 for SHP STEP. The SHP STEP Program fiscal year 2011/2012 allocation is $200,412.
- The SHP Transitional Housing (TH) Expansion Program was funded in 1996, for three years, in the amount of $400,000. Fiscal year 2005/2006 funding allocations were $ 128,052 for SHP Transitional Housing. The SHP Transitional Housing fiscal year 2011/2012 allocation is $130,736.

The SHP STEP and TH programs are administered by the Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency, Social Services Branch. Since no one agency, program, or grant has the ability to alleviate a county's homelessness, the continuum of care system is dependent upon the leveraged resources and integrated goals and objectives of all agencies and programs providing services to poor and disabled homeless clients.

Shelter Plus Care:

S+C is a program designed to provide housing and supportive services for homeless persons with disabilities (primarily persons with serious mental illness, chronic problems with alcohol and other drugs, or AIDS and related diseases) and their families. In Mendocino County the S+C grant is used to pay for 130 tenant-based rental subsidies (TRA's), and four sponsor-based (SRA's) family units at Ford Street Project in Ukiah.

Mendocino County has provided a S+C program since 1995. Grant funding is currently on one-year renewal cycles. Those residing in S+C TRA's are comprised of the following sub-populations: 19 percent are persons with AIDS, 45 percent are persons with mental illness, 15 percent are substance abusers, 15 percent have co-occurring disorders, and 6 percent have other disabling conditions. Geographically, 40 percent of the TRA's are allocated to the coast, and 60 percent inland. S+C TRA's and SRA's are provided to the disabled homeless by the inter-agency case conference teams operating out of the coast and inland resource centers.

Resource Centers for Homeless Families and Individuals

In 1995, SHP STEP established two resource centers for the homeless; one in Fort Bragg, and one in Ukiah, which serve as hubs for homeless services in these two distinct regions of the county. Resource center staff assess homeless applicants for eligibility¹⁵, and provide a variety of support services (assistance with emergency food, clothing, and shelter; life skills training; substance abuse treatment; dual diagnosis groups; and credit clean-up assistance). In addition, case conference groups at the regional resource centers refer SHP STEP participants to transitional housing and S+C housing.

The Resource Center STEP program is made up of three program phases:

Step 1: The first, or intake level of service, is available to any homeless person, regardless of their eligibility for SHP. Step 1 involves outreach, intake and assessment of needs, assistance in securing emergency shelter, and information and referral to community resources.

Step 2: The second, more intensive level of service begins when clients make a commitment to participate in a program designed to address the underlying causes of homelessness. This commitment includes participating in services designed to address barriers to residential stability, such as substance abuse treatment, mental health treatment, life skills classes, Tenants Rights and Responsibilities classes, credit counseling, and participation in job services or other employment training programs. The array of supportive services that are available to Step 2 participants are linked to transitional housing options (a stable living situation is a critical component for progress through Step 2). All participants entering Step 2 are eligible for the limited existing transitional housing available. In addition, they are placed on the appropriate S+C, public housing, Mental Health services, or Rural Communities Housing Development Corporation (RCHDC), waiting lists for subsidized permanent housing.

Step 3: Step 3 is the transition from transitional housing and participation in STEP supportive services to permanent housing with decreasing access to SHP-funded services. This transition entails full integration of the participant into community life and independent living to the greatest extent possible.

SHP-funded resource center staff perform front-line crisis intervention and brokering of emergency services and shelter for the newly homeless. They also coordinate and integrate support services designed to promote residential stability and independent living for SHP caseloads within the homeless Continuum of Care system. The nexus of this system is the weekly case conference meetings held in regional jurisdictions. The case conference groups are multi-disciplinary teams working to provide an intensive array of services that engage and empower clients. These services, linked with emergency shelter, transitional housing, and S+C housing, are geared to reduce the cycle of recurring homelessness and assist clients to stabilize their lives and attain long-term residential stability.

The primary obstacle to successfully implementing this strategy is the reduction of funding for support services. Case management from mainstream providers is inconsistent in relation to the housing goals and outcomes of the Continuum of Care. The very nature of rural counties, the high number of cases juggled by case managers, the remote areas where clients reside and subsequent difficulty in reaching human service workers, constitute significant challenges in implementing a cohesive policy of supportive services for the homeless through the Continuum of Care.

F. American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA), Homeless Prevention and Rapid Re-Housing Program (HPRP)

In June 2009 the Homeless Prevention and Rapid Re-Housing Program (HPRP), under Title X11 of Division A of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 Notification of Funding Award (NOFA) was released. A multi-agency application with community partner agencies was approved for $1,600,000 over a three year grant period beginning 10/1/2009. The partner agencies are Willits Community Services in North County, Ford Street Project and Ukiah Community Center Inland, Coast Community Center and Safe Passage Resource Center on the Coast, and Legal Services of Northern California.

HPRP is designed to provide financial assistance to clients who are literally homeless (Homeless Assistance) and to clients who are at risk of losing their housing (Homeless Prevention). The first APR from 10/1/2009 to 9/30/2010 shows that 256 households have received assistance. Homeless Assistance financial assistance was provided to 288 persons and Homeless Prevention financial assistance was provided to 331 persons. These are 256 households that have either been prevented from homelessness or rapidly re-housed from homelessness.

G. SHP Permanent Supportive Housing Bonus

In 2011, a two-year SHP Permanent Supportive Housing Bonus of $28,008 was awarded to Mendocino County. The Supportive Housing Program Permanent Housing project will provide a two bedroom unit to share for two chronically homeless individuals. These individuals will be provided specialized case management services for the chronically homeless, dually diagnosed. This project will serve the chronically homeless, as further identified by the local Chronic Users System of Care (CUSOC) a group collaborating to provide specialized and intensive treatment for a population of high users of medical and criminal justice systems. This is the only housing within Mendocino County targeted to serve this specific population.

H. Additional Work Groups:

Chronic User System of Care (CUSOC)

In 2010, The Chronic User System of Care (CUSOC) was established with a grant awarded to the lead agency Ukiah Valley Medical Center (UVMC). This project is designed to serve a target population which includes County Medical Services Program (CMSP) beneficiaries or likely CMSP beneficiaries in inland Mendocino County who have either complex health conditions (and are receiving inpatient hospital care or have been recently discharged from inpatient hospital care) or who have housing or transportation challenges that impede their ability to obtain medical care. The CUSOC program will serve a specific subset of adults with chronic substance abuse, mental health diagnoses or complex medical conditions, who frequently utilize the Emergency Department and the Jail system. Project goals include the provision of primary care, care coordination and intensive case management services for up to 50 clients in year one and for up to 200 clients in year two.

HUD Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing (HUD-VASH)

In June of 2010 the U. S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) released a Strategic Plan that identified thirteen major initiatives, one of which is the Elimination of Veteran Homelessness. HUD-VA Supportive Housing (HUD-VASH) will provide housing vouchers and Supportive Services for Veteran Families (SSVF) will provide homelessness prevention and rapid rehousing services. At this time, the Public Housing Authority is administering 60 VASH vouchers.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) Outreach, Access and Recovery (SOAR) Program

SSI and SSDI are disability income benefits administered by the Security Administration (SSA) that also provide Medicaid and/or Medicare health insurance to individuals who are eligible. For people who are homeless or who are returning to the community from institutions (jails, prisons or hospitals), access to these programs can be extremely challenging. For those who have a mental illness, substance use issues, or co-occurring disorders that impair cognition, the application process is even more difficult.

Mendocino County HHSA has received a grant for SOAR technical assistance activities to train two individuals to increase to SSI/SSDI for homeless individuals. The SOAR training will provide the trainers the teaching and training skills they will need to extend this training to HHSA partners in the HSPG.

Mental Health Services Act

Proposition 63, the Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) was passed by California voters in November 2004. Passage of this act funds California counties to expand mental health services to those who are unserved or underserved. To this end, Mendocino County developed an initial three year Community Services and Supports plan, submitted to the State of California in January 2006. Of the original work groups in the required community planning process, one was devoted to Housing and Homelessness. A total of 22 participants attended three meetings to plan for the needs of housing for the homeless mentally ill currently unserved or underserved. Once the original plan was submitted, additional work began through a collaborative process between the California Institute for Mental Health (CIMH) and the Corporation for Supportive Housing (CSH). Eight individuals representing a cross section of Mental Health, Social Services, Community-Based Organizations, housing developers, and the Public Housing Authority attended a training, Building a Collaborative for Successful Housing in March 2006. Continuation of this effort is assured through the commitment of the newly forming combined county departments of Public Health, Mental Health and Social Services, as well as that of the Public Housing Authority.

Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA):

- Access to Treatment and Housing Opportunities in the Mendocino Environment (AT-HOME)
Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency (HHSA) collaborates with local partners to implement the Access to Treatment and Housing Opportunities in the Mendocino Environment (AT HOME) Project to fill long-standing gaps in the county's Continuum of Care for the Homeless. Adults who are homeless and have both substance abuse and mental health disorders will for the first time have access to integrated treatment, primary health care, wraparound support, and linkage to housing. AT HOME focuses on persons in the following target groups who have co-occurring substance abuse disorders and mental illnesses:
 - General Assistance (GA) clients, and people eligible for but not participating in GA, who are homeless and have co-occurring substance abuse disorders and mental illnesses.
 - Homeless people participating in the county's Supportive Housing Program (SHP), and people eligible for but not participating in SSHP, with co-occurring disorders.

- Projects for Assistance in Transition for Homelessness (PATH)

The PATH Program is a formula grant program to support service delivery to individuals with serious mental illnesses, as well as individuals with co-occurring substance use disorders, who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless. Local PATH supported organizations provide a wide range of services to people who are homeless. Among the services eligible for funding under PATH are:

- outreach service,
- screening and diagnostic services,
- habilitation and rehabilitation services,
- community mental health services, alcohol or drug treatment services (for people with mental illnesses and co-occurring substance use disorders),
- case management services,
- and supervisory services in residential settings and a limited set of housing services and services to help clients access housing resources.

I. Continuum of Care Strategy and Action Steps

The primary objective of the Mendocino County HSPG and the Continuum of Care system is for homeless people from all areas of the county to have access to housing and the services they need to acquire and sustain affordable permanent housing, improve their health and well being, and become economically self-sufficient. The Continuum of Care mission is: “To create an effective continuum of housing and support services for the homeless of Mendocino County.”

SHP STEP and TH client service goals are: to increase residential stability, to increase skills or income, and to promote greater self-determination.

In June 2010 the U. S. Interagency Council on Homelessness (USICH) released a new federal strategic plan geared toward preventing and ending homelessness. The Secretaries of the Departments of Housing and Urban Development, Health and Human Services, Labor, and Veterans Affairs unveiled Opening Doors: The Federal Strategic Plan to Prevent and End Homelessness together at a White House ceremony on June 22, 2010. The Plan, the first comprehensive federal plan developed to prevent and end homelessness, borrows heavily from the principles used in many community plans with similar goals. The Plan is focused on four key goals:

- Finish the job of ending chronic homelessness in five years;
- Prevent and end homelessness among Veterans in five years;
- Prevent and end homelessness for families, youth, and children in ten years; and
- Set a path to ending all types of homelessness

C. Housing Resources for the Homeless

Please see Figure 6 Continuum of Care Housing Inventory Chart 1/27/2011, on page 30.

Homeless Youth: The SHP STEP program is not designed to serve single people under the age of 18. Most services to county youth are provided by Mendocino County Office of Education (MCOE), Mendocino County Youth Project (MCYP) and Redwood Children's Services (RCS). These agencies address the crisis and intervention needs of youth and their families:

- Mendocino County Youth Project (MCYP) Emergency services, (food, shelter, and respite care), are provided to approximately 500 runaway, at risk of runaway and/or homeless youth each year. MCYP staff estimate that of the 500 served, approximately 25 are placed in short-term respite-home shelters, which have a maximum allowable stay of two weeks. Three hundred are assisted in "kinship placements" (temporary or long term shelter) with friends and relatives. Eighty-five percent of youth served eventually return to their homes; ten percent to homes of other adults, with five percent continuing to couch surf or return to the streets.
- Redwood Children's Services, Inc. (RCS) RCS provides specialized care and supportive housing to foster youth, emancipated foster youth, and transition age with Full Service Partnerships through County Mental Health. Additional vocational services and resources are provided to the transitional age community and homeless youth through the Arbor on Main.

Through a 2010 EHAP-CD housing project, RCS provides 11 beds with supportive housing in a two building complex and another 7 beds in scattered site housing for transition age youth who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. All housing is currently located in Ukiah. The maximum stay is up to 24 months although some case management services extend after housing is terminated. RCS assist youth with housing voucher applications, SSI and food stamps as needed. Mental health services are also available according to medical necessity and as directed by the youth's individual plan.

- Mendocino County Office of Education (MCOE) offers assistance for youth ages pre-K through 21 with educational and vocational opportunities. In addition to advocacy and referral services, clothing, hygiene and school supplies are available to those in needs. Using McKinney-Vento stimulus funding through the MCOE, DAY (Dogs and Youth) JOB is a vocational training program for homeless youth ages 16-21. Once a week the youth spend two hours at the County Animal Shelter to work with a dog-trainer and/or groomer. The objectives for the youth are multi-faceted.

Domestic Violence: Project Sanctuary provides crisis counseling and safe shelter for domestic violence and rape victims and their children, support groups, one-to-one counseling, paralegal assistance and court accompaniment, prevention education, domestic violence, and self-defense classes. Offices are located in Ukiah and Fort Bragg. Project Sanctuary staff also travel regularly to Willits for outreach activities. The shelter houses only females and their children. Motel stays are available on a very limited basis for men. A transitional housing program is also offered.

Emergency Shelter: Ford Street Project, Project Sanctuary, and Hospitality House, are the county's primary providers of emergency shelter. There are 102 beds for families and individuals with 12 overflow beds for times of high demand. A Coast Winter Shelter was established in 2008 in Fort Bragg. Volunteer faith organizations rotate a 20 bed shelter for respite on the coldest nights from November until April. The Ukiah, Willits and Fort Bragg resource centers serve as gateways for clients requiring shelter. In addition to the shelters, a number of county agencies distribute motel vouchers to homeless families and individuals, including UCC, MCHHSA, Project Sanctuary, Safe Passage Family Resource Center, Round Valley Housing Authority and Willits Community Services.

Transitional Housing

Mendocino County has contracted with HUD to provide Transitional Housing for the homeless through various programs since 1998. Ford Street Project has been the primary provider of transitional housing throughout Mendocino County. Ford Street Project has operated non-HUD funded transitional housing, as well as 12 units of HUD funded transitional housing both on the Coast and in the Ukiah Valley.

In the 2008 CoC application, there was an administrative error, which resulted in the initial loss of the CoC transitional housing project. For the 2009 program year, it was unclear whether HUD would continue to fund the housing. During that tense year, transitional housing on the coast experienced the loss of HUD approved units. Given that it was uncertain whether HUD would continue to fund the program, no grant amendment was made. At the very last minute before the program year was complete, HUD agreed to renew the existing transitional housing program. The changes to the transitional housing units are still being negotiated between Ford Street Project, Mendocino County and the HUD SF Field office to determine the best avenue toward full implementation and funding of the transitional housing program in Mendocino County. In the meantime, Ford Street Project continues to operate five units of HUD funded transitional housing in Ukiah.

Fifteen beds on the Coast with eight bedrooms of transitional housing are being operated in a house owned via an Emergency Housing Assistance Program Capital Development (EHAPCD) by Ukiah Community Center in Fort Bragg, called Harrison Street House. Currently the project is being operated through program fees, with the hope that this housing will be funded through HUD's transitional housing for the homeless program. While Ukiah Community Center owns the housing, Hospitality Center is case managing the clients in the Harrison Street units in Fort Bragg.

Ford Street Project has an almost complete project, funded through the EHAPCD, called TOTIL. This housing consists of four housing "pods", with three bedrooms to a pod. The housing was intended for single individuals in shared housing. This project is anticipated to open for housing in 2011.

Project Sanctuary (PS) has two units of transitional housing in Ukiah with the capacity to house six to eight women and children referred from the battered women's shelter. PS provides counseling and intensive long-term case management on-site at the shelter and transitional units.

Permanent Housing

The Community Development Commission (CDC) is the designated Housing Authority of Mendocino County. CDC develops and administers several housing rental assistance programs county-wide. CDC's public housing properties were disposed of as public housing. The properties are subsidized by Project-Based Vouchers, allowing families to pay 30% of the adjusted income for rent. This formula was the same when the properties were public housing. The properties include: Baechtel Creek in Willits, a senior facility with 60 units; Marlene-Brookside in Ukiah, 13 three bedroom units; Seacliff in Fort Bragg, 19 three bedroom units; Sanderson Way in Fort Bragg, with nine three and four bedrooms units; Glass Beach in Fort Bragg, 15 three bedroom houses; Ukiah-30, a scattered-site family program in Ukiah. CDC manages the Section 8 program which provides 700 rental subsidies to low income households throughout the county. College Court in Ukiah provides seven one and two bedroom apartments for Mendocino College students who are given a priority in leasing. The units may be rented at market rate or with a Voucher or S+C assistance. Holly Ranch Village in Fort Bragg was completed in 2007. The ten two bedroom units may be rented at market rent, or with the Voucher or S+C assistance. There are plans to develop the rest of the property with 15 two bedroom modular homes. CDC began administering the new HUD-VASH vouchers for chronically homeless veterans and their families in 2010. At this time there are 60 HUD-VASH vouchers available.

Permanent housing for the homeless includes the S+C program, administered by the Community Development Commission. S+C's 130 tenant based vouchers are available county-wide. Vouchers are allocated through the multi-agency case conference teams that meet weekly in Ukiah and Fort Bragg. Vouchers are provided through CDC to be used at private rentals through community landlords. This is considered a scattered site housing model.

All permanent housing is inspected by a CDC housing inspection specialist following the Housing Quality Standards (HQS) for compliance.

Rural Communities Housing Development Corporation (RCHDC), a non-profit community based corporation in Ukiah, develops, builds, and manages housing for low-income families, seniors, and the disabled, serving a multi-county area. RCHDC is perhaps best known for providing assistance to families building their own homes through "sweat-equity," as well as working with the county, cities, and private developers in other home ownership projects for low and moderate income families. In addition to the sweat-equity home ownership program, RCHDC is committed to developing more low and moderately priced multi-family rental housing units and supportive housing for seniors and the disabled. They currently manage 241 family units and 180 senior units in Mendocino County. The continuum looks to them to assist in the development of properties to house the homeless and disabled in the community. In the recent past they developed the Gibson Street project, consisting of twelve units of permanent supportive housing for the mentally ill in Ukiah. .

Garden Court (1175 S. State St.), consisting of three units (14 beds) with on-site services, owned and operated by Ford Street Project is for the seriously mentally ill (SMI) and individuals with co-occurring disorders. Garden Court is located in Ukiah.

The Holden Street apartment complex in Ukiah, offering subsidized supportive housing for the SMI's, is owned and managed by Rural Communities Housing Development Corporation (RCHDC) with support services and referrals provided by the county department of Mental Health Services. While Holden Street is not specifically set aside for the homeless, the majority of the individuals placed there come from in-patient psychiatric hospitals and meet the HUD definition of homelessness. The development and rehabilitation of housing units for use as subsidized permanent housing and permanent supportive housing, has a positive impact on the county's homeless population by generally increasing the stock of low and moderately priced rental housing, thus enhancing opportunities for the homeless and those at risk of homelessness to lease and maintain affordable permanent housing.

An on-going challenge in Mendocino County is to maintain the current affordable stock of housing despite the impending expiration of a number of HUD-financed low-interest loan contracts, putting the stock of subsidized rental housing at risk. When loan contracts expire, the rental units can be converted from 75 percent of the market rate to the market rate cost. (See Appendix B, Mendocino County Subsidized Housing List, on page 48).

State Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) has five projects in Mendocino County, Boonville Apartments in Boonville, a group home for low and very low income with 12 units; Garden Court Apartments in Ukiah a rental rehab with ten units; Gibson Court in Ukiah, a rental new construction with 12 units, Holly Heights I and II in Willits, low and very low rental complex for 26 and 32 units.

V. MARKET CHARACTERISTICS

A. Housing Availability and Affordability

The availability and affordability of housing is one factor which influences homelessness in Mendocino County. Information related to housing affordability is provided in the Mendocino County General Plan Housing Element Appendix (Adopted by the Mendocino- County Board of Supervisors March, 2010).

The following sections of the Housing Element Technical Appendix are included in Appendix A on page 38:

2.2	Housing Characteristics
	Housing Development
	Household Type and Tenure
	Housing Type
	Tenure
	Vacancy Rate
	Housing Age and Condition
	Housing Costs and Affordability
	Housing Prices and Trends
	Mobile Home Sales and Rents
	Rental Rates
	Rental Affordability
2.5	At-Risk Housing Analysis
2.6	Housing Needs Assessment
	Existing Housing Needs
	Overcrowding
	Overpayment
	Substandard Housing

The data included in these sections of the Housing Element Appendix indicate there continue to be significant challenges to finding affordable housing for many residents of Mendocino County. This is only exacerbated by the additional challenges of homelessness.

In 2000 in Mendocino County there were a total of 36,367 housing units, an increase of just 8 percent as compared to our neighbors. Humboldt increased by nine percent, Lake by 13 percent and Sonoma by 14 percent. Detached single family homes made up three-fourths of the housing stock, multi-family housing just six percent of the housing. Mobile homes were 16 percent of the housing stock, however this was a seven percent decline from 1990. Multi-family units and mobile homes make up the most affordable housing options for persons with limited incomes.

The vacancy rate for renters declined from 7.2 percent in 1990 to 3.3 percent in 2000. The Appendix indicates that housing values and rents continue to increase at a rapid pace. Rental rates increased by 27 percent between 1990 and 2000 – and continue to increase at an alarming rate. The Fair Market Rents, established by HUD, for a one bedroom unit was $533 in 2002, $620 in 2006 and the current average rent is $725. It further indicates that rents are generally only affordable to moderate-income households.

B. Future Housing Needs

The Housing Element must project future housing needs for all income levels. The Mendocino Council of Governments (MCOG) prepared the Mendocino County Housing Needs Plan for the period January 1, 2007 to July 1, 2014 as required by State law. The purpose of the plan is to examine housing needs across jurisdictional boundaries and to allocate to each local government responsibility for planning to meet these needs.

The Housing Needs Plan determined the housing needs allocation based on population, household, employment growth, and vacant land projections, taking into account constraints described by each jurisdiction. The allocation is distributed among the four income categories based on current and future household projections for the years 2007-2014. Table 1-1 (from The 2010 Housing Element) shows the regional housing needs allocation for the County by income group.

TABLE 1-1 REGIONAL HOUSING NEEDS ALLOCATION, 2007-2014 MENDOCINO COUNTY
Jurisdiction	Income Group				Total Units	Percent
	Very Low	Low	Moderate	Above Moderate
Point Arena	5	3	4	7	19	1%
Fort Bragg	92	49	40	75	256	7%
Willits	54	40	38	77	209	6%
Ukiah	134	130	120	75	459	13%
Unincorporated County	513	366	460	1,213	2,552	73%
County Totals	798	588	662	1,447	3,495	100%

Source: Mendocino Council of Governments Regional Housing Needs Plan, August 2008..

Table 1-1 identifies the Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA) for all cities in the County as well as the unincorporated area. According to MCOG, approximately 73 percent of the future housing need is expected to be in the unincorporated area. The unincorporated County's share of the regional housing need is 2,552 units. Of these units, 1,339 units must be affordable to very-low, low, and moderate-income households.

VI STRATEGIC GOALS

A. Objective 1: Create new permanent housing beds for chronically homeless persons.

The chronically homeless of Mendocino County have primarily utilized the emergency shelter system, as well as the supportive services only resource centers. The permanent scattered site supportive housing model in Mendocino County (clients are awarded housing vouchers but need a landlord who will rent to them) is the least conducive to serving the chronically homeless. However, while no beds or programs have exclusively served the chronically homeless, neither are programs excluding chronically homeless. All beds within the CoC are potentially available to any homeless person in Mendocino County. In 2009, Mendocino County received HUD VASH, designated for chronically homeless veterans. The housing is to be provided through vouchers and use local landlords (the same scattered site model). Case management is provided through the Ukiah Veterans Affairs Outpatient Clinic (VAOPC). The initial allocation of VASH vouchers for Mendocino County was 35, with an additional 25 later assigned.

The capacity is in place to provide up to 60 VASH vouchers to chronically homeless veterans in Mendocino County. There has never been such an ambitious program in place in the history of the county to house so many veterans, or chronically homeless clients. The case management provided by VAOPC is a mandatory component of the housing, and will provide assistance in obtaining and maintaining permanent housing. In addition to the VASH program, Mendocino County applied for and was awarded a permanent housing bonus project in the 2010 application for funding for a two bedroom apartment to be used for chronically homeless clients who are not veterans. This project is the only housing available exclusively to the chronically homeless in Mendocino County other than VASH for veterans.

B. Objective 2: Increase the percentage of participants remaining in CoC funded permanent housing projects for at least six months to 77 percent or more.

The percentage of participants remaining in permanent housing projects is already higher than 77 percent. Mendocino County plans for the short-term are to continue to ensure that clients receive adequate supportive services while in permanent supportive housing, and respond at the first signs participants may need additional services to stay in housing. The early response to signs of trouble has been helpful in maintaining positive results of participants staying in housing.

Long term plans to ensure participants remain in permanent housing projects at least six months include redoubled efforts to partner the housing program participants with long term mainstream benefits providers, such as Medicaid and Social Security as a basis for program participation. HUD has made more resources available for training and implementing these mainstream partner suggestions. Mendocino County intends to use the provided materials to initiate long term training and strategic revision of the permanent housing program.

C. Objective 3: Increase the percentage of participants in CoC funded transitional housing that move into permanent housing to 65 percent or more.

Short term plans to increase those that move from transitional to permanent housing include better discharge planning, reviewed case manager supervision and case manager training. Discharge planning for participants who move into transitional housing should begin from the day clients move in and be reviewed minimally on a monthly basis. Discharge planning specifically will address monetary needs for moving to permanent housing and what kind of permanent housing will be most appropriate for clients. In addition to supervision of case managers, case managers will be provided ongoing training for working with clients in transitional housing. Training efforts have not kept pace with staff turnover among transitional housing case managers.

To encourage more transitional housing clients to move to permanent housing the CoC wishes to create a local cultural change promoting and supporting work, whether it be work for income or work to help the community to the extent each individual is able. This culture of work is intended to become a part of each of the programs throughout the local CoC. To promote this concept increased leadership is necessary among organization leaders, with additional collaboration toward this goal. Leadership will promote targeted strategies to achieve long term outcomes of moving from transitional housing to permanent housing of the most appropriate type depending upon the client. Also in long term plans is a review of the discharge planning procedure with transitional housing clients to assist in the cultural change. Leadership will pursue policies that will increase the stock of affordable housing for clients moving out of transitional housing.

D. Objective 4: Increase percentage of participants in all CoC funded projects that are employed at program exit to 20 percent or more.

Short term efforts to increase participants employed at program exit are generally in place. One key component is all clients of the SHP are discussed in triage in case conference meetings attended weekly by members of nonprofit advocacy agencies, case managers and mainstream benefits providers. Not only does this weekly meeting allow for individual brainstorming regarding specific clients and services options, but it also provides an opportunity for ongoing training and information sharing among the people working most directly with clients. The CoC will provide additional training specifically regarding connection to employment opportunities. The CoC will explore partnerships with vocational programs to provide trainings to our clients. Life skills classes are currently being taught but the curriculum will be reviewed to focus more specifically on employment outcomes, what clients need to do and know to secure and maintain employment after being homeless.

Longer term efforts to increase participants employed at program exit will focus on the creation of training geared toward this outcome. In the long term the CoC desires to create a culture that promotes and supports employment/working. To this end, reviewing all components of the CoC are in order with the long term goal of building a program that engages program participants and tenants in developing stronger partnerships with vocational and employment agencies, and outcomes for clients is intended. Research into tools available for training and development of case manager training focused on employment outcomes is planned. Finally the creation of an internal vocational program within nonprofit agencies working with the homeless is a long term goal.

E. Objective 5: Decrease the number of homeless households with children.

The plan begins with prevention of families becoming homeless as both a short and long term strategy. Prevention activities for families include early identification of families at risk with help provided to keep families stable before loss of income and/or housing occurs. Additional strategies currently being implemented include providing pre-school literacy assistance for homeless moms. DAY (Dogs and Youth) JOB was developed as a vocational training program for homeless youth 16-21 to develop a worth ethic and skill set. There is a local focus on education and work programs to provide skills needed to improve work and income opportunities. A strong collaboration exists with Arbor on Main, the Youth Resource Center to work with teens and those in their early 20's with babies to stabilize and help young parents make long term realistic plans to ensure housing and income stability.

The most important long-term strategy to reduce the number of homeless households with children is ongoing prevention of families becoming homeless. The United States Interagency Council on Homelessness has made preventing and ending homelessness for families, youth and children in ten years a federal goal. Mendocino County will stay closely informed about strategies, training, and resources made available to local communities to partner in the effort to bring about this goal. Other strategies include lobbying for increased local affordable housing development, and policies to make that reality happen sooner at the City, County and State levels. We also hope to educate local government officials at City, County and State levels to the impacts of homelessness and lack of affordable housing on families, youth and children. This includes stronger partnerships with statewide youth organizations that have strong lobbying efforts already in place.

F. Discharge Planning

1. Foster Care (Youth Aging Out)

The Children's System of Care has a long standing collaboration between key agencies in Mendocino County. Policies are in place to prevent youth from being discharged from foster care into homelessness and mainstream as well as nonprofit providers work diligently and collaboratively to ensure this does not happen. Foster youth may move into transitional youth services, a 24-month independent living skills program operated through Redwood Children's Services (RCS). RCS also provides transitional age youth housing for clients enrolled and working with Mental Health providers. Mendocino County Youth Project (MCYP), and Mendocino Coast Children's Fund are all organizations providing services to youth aging out of the foster care system and collaborate with county government organizing the foster care program. These private nonprofit agencies work in close collaboration with the Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency Children's System of Care and the Mendocino County Office of Education Foster Youth Service Coordinator. Discharge planning from the foster care system is organized by the Independent Living Skills Program Coordinator, who says most foster youth create plans but some time later some plans are found to be inadequate, which is the primary local cause for foster youth becoming homeless.

2. Health Care

Discharge planning protocols by local hospitals have been developed through regional and local planning. Health care staff interview homeless clients to identify housing possibilities. Hospital staff contact family and friends of clients (with permission) identified as potential short and long term housing possibilities. Staff arrange for family and/or friends to pick clients up from the facility whenever possible. For clients without identified family and friends, complete information is provided about local resources which include services, programs and housing. Stakeholders who have signed the local policies include the main hospital in Mendocino County, Ukiah Valley Medical Center, Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency and the Continuum of Care Homeless Services Planning Group Co-Chair.

3. Mental Health

The protocols developed by the Mental Health Branch identify discharge planning that addresses housing to take place beginning at the time of admission of a homeless mentally ill client. The protocols for discharge planning are detailed and progressive. Mental Health also has Memorandum of Understanding in place with two housing facilities for homeless and low income clients to be housed at the discretion of the local Mental Health Branch. There are crisis beds available for mentally ill clients who are homeless to be used at the discretion of Mental Health case workers. The collaborating agencies include the Mendocino County Adult and Older Adult System of Care, Mental Health Branch, the Mendocino County Health and Human Services Agency Social services Branch, the Ukiah Community Center and Ford Street Project.

4. Corrections

When the Mendocino County jail incarcerates homeless people it is most often affiliated with substance abuse issues. In order to provide inmates access to substance abuse treatment, the jail facilities have enhanced the inmate phone system with a toll free number to the local state licensed alcohol drug program residential treatment program at Ford Street Project (FSP). FSP has set aside a limited number of free/sliding scale beds to assist the indigent population. Inmates can be released to this treatment program. A monthly Parole and Community Team seminar is held locally to provide parolees information about housing and service opportunities. The collaborating agencies include the Mendocino County Sheriff, the CA Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, Department of Adult Parole Operations, Mendocino County Department of Social Services, Ukiah Community Center, and Ford Street Project.

2.2 HOUSING CHARACTERISTICS

This section describes the housing stock characteristics of Mendocino County, including housing stock growth, tenure, age, condition, costs, and affordability. The housing stock is as diverse as are the households that occupy it.

HOUSING DEVELOPMENT

Mendocino County had 36,397 housing units in 2000, which increased by 9 percent to 39,563 units in 2008. During this period, the number of housing units in the unincorporated area grew by 9 percent. Approximately 70 percent or 27,725 units were located in the unincorporated area of the County in 2008. Table 2-20 shows the number of housing units in 2000 and 2008 in Mendocino and the neighboring counties. At 9 percent, Mendocino County's percentage increase of housing units was greater than that of most neighboring counties, matched only by Lake County and exceeded by Tehama County.

HOUSING TYPE AND TENURE

Housing type includes single-family and multi-family units and mobile homes. Tenure refers to whether a housing unit is owner or renter-occupied and is frequently associated with type of housing unit.

Housing Type

Table 2-21 identifies the type of housing units in the unincorporated area in 2000 and 2009. Detached single-family homes comprised almost three-fourths of the housing stock in 2009, an increase of more than 2,000 units since 2000. Single-family attached units represented only 2 percent of the housing stock, showing no growth in the segment since 2000. Multi-family housing, including apartments and condominiums, represented approximately 5.4 percent of the housing stock. Mobile homes constituted 17 percent of the housing stock in the unincorporated area, representing an 11 percent increase since 2000. Overall unit growth for unincorporated Mendocino County between 200 and 2009 was 9.2 percent, which is faster than the 6.5 percent growth in population during the same period.

Tenure

According to the 2000 census, approximately 69 percent of the occupied housing units in the unincorporated area were ownership units. Rental units comprised 31 percent. Between 1990 and 2000, the number of both owner-occupied and renter-occupied units increased as shown in Table 2-22.

Vacancy Rate

Despite the growth in the number of rental units in the unincorporated area, the vacancy rate declined significantly between 1990 and 2000. On the other hand, the vacancy rate for ownership units increased slightly (Table 2-23). Vacancy rates for both renter and homeowner units are lower in the cities and higher in the unincorporated areas according to the 2000 Census.

HOUSING AGE AND CONDITION

Age is an important factor in the condition of a housing unit. Housing gradually deteriorates over time and, like other infrastructure, regular maintenance of the housing stock is necessary. Typically, after 30 years most housing shows signs of deterioration and needs reinvestment to maintain its condition. Without proper maintenance, housing that is over 50 years requires major reinvestment to maintain its quality and appearance. Homeowners with older units may require assistance to upgrade conditions or such units will become substandard for use by homeowners or renters and may eventually be unsuitable for occupancy.

Table 2-25 shows that housing in the unincorporated area is newer than housing in the County as a whole. Approximately 31 percent of total County's units compared to 35 percent of units in the unincorporated area are less than 20 years old. Roughly a quarter of all units are 20-30 years old, an age where housing begins to show more serious signs of decline. A substantial portion (27 percent) is more than 50 years old.

Another major concern in the County is substandard housing. There are a significant number of substandard apartments and motel conversions as well as housing with open septic systems, hazardous wiring, broken windows, and lack of working sanitary facilities. Many of these are occupied by minority households; however, few tenants file complaints. The substandard housing is not concentrated in one specific area, but is spread throughout the County.

The Housing Conditions Survey prepared by the Community Development Commission of Mendocino County surveyed 8,859 housing units in the unincorporated County Census Tracts between August 2002 and January 2003. A point rating system prescribed by the California Department of Housing and Community Development was used. The study found that approximately 62.5 percent of the units surveyed require some form of rehabilitation according to the definitions in the study:

- 47 percent need minor repairs
- 12.8 percent need moderate repairs
- 0.6 percent need substantial repairs
- 2.1 percent are in dilapidated condition

The County's Code Enforcement Division employs three code enforcement officers as well as a staff assistant to address code violations. The Division handles approximately 500 complaints a year. The Division has about 1500 active cases and about half of those cases relate to housing issues. A breakdown of those cases is as follows: 20 percent illegal travel trailer occupancy; 20 percent substandard housing; 15 percent unpermitted construction; 15 percent unpermitted grading; 20 percent junkyard conditions, fencing, RV parking; and 10 percent setback and other issues.

According to code enforcement staff, there has been a marked increase in the number of cases involving illegal travel trailers, campers, and tents. The primary issues include illegal occupancy, a lack of or inadequate sewage disposal, and other health and safety violations. Many sites are located within or near communities or urban areas. In many cases, the occupants hold minimum wage jobs. These occupants are likely to have been priced out of the housing market. A smaller percentage of the cases are located in remote, rural areas.

HOUSING COSTS AND AFFORDABILITY

Housing costs have continued to rise in Mendocino County over the past 6 years. Both homeowners and renters have seen an increase in housing costs with homeowners experiencing a greater increase. (Table 2-26).

Housing Prices and Trends

Home values in Mendocino County and the surrounding counties increased significantly between 2000 and 2006. The median home value in Mendocino County grew by 130 percent to $457,000 in 2006. Compared with neighboring counties, Mendocino had the second highest median home value, after Sonoma County, according to the 2000 Census (Table 2-27).

Although ACS data is not available for subsequent years, housing values have declined significantly. Data from local realtor sources in Table 2-28, which provides a more complete picture of home values in Mendocino County.

Table 2-28 shows median home sales prices for 2004, 2006, 2008 in various areas of the County. Housing prices in the County rose from 2004 to 2006 but then decreased by 2008 in most areas. The most expensive housing markets were located along the coast such as Point Arena and Gualala. The northern inland area of the county is generally less expensive than the rest of the County. Housing markets in the southern inland areas varied depending on the region. Redwood Valley and Anderson Valley are the most expensive housing markets in the inland areas, with a median home sales price of $455,000 in 2008, compared to the Willits or Talmage/Hopland areas at $305,000 and $288,500 respectively.

During the period from 2004 to 2007, housing price increases were driven by easy access to credit in combination with the overall attractiveness of the County as a place to live and retire. A lack of new housing construction versus demand and a conversion of homes along the coast to vacation home rentals have also been major factors affecting home prices. While most are conversions of existing housing, some may be new units or vacation home rentals that have changed ownership. The prices of homes began to decline 2007 when lending standards were significantly tightened and an increasing number of foreclosed properties entered the market. Job losses and the poor economy both regionally and nationwide have also limited the potential pool of homeowners to the point where the local supply of homes exceeds the demand.

Mobile Home Sales and Rents

Mobile homes offer a more affordable option for those interested in homeownership. Mobile homes range in price from approximately $35,000 to $80,000 depending on the size, amenities, and age. Overall, 4,184 mobile homes are located in the unincorporated area, according to the 2000 Census. There are 63 mobile home parks in the unincorporated area of the County with a total of 1,746 spaces. Most mobile home parks are located in the southern (1,097 spaces) and the coastal (515 spaces) regions, with fewer in the north (118 spaces).

In addition to the cost of a mobile home, owners must either purchase a residential site or rent a mobile home space. The cost of renting a space ranged from $270 to $640 per month (April 2009 phone survey). The rent typically included water, sewer, and garbage service. Most mobile home parks reported few vacancies and several in the coastal region reported waiting lists.

Rental Rates

Similar to housing sales prices, rents also increased between 2000 and 2005. According to the U. S. Census 2005 American Housing Survey, rents increased by 11 percent in Mendocino County during the ten-year period, as shown in Table 2-31.

The unincorporated areas of the County had a range of rent levels. As with home prices, median rents in communities along the coast and in Redwood Valley were higher than for the County as a whole. Rents in the northern inland area were the least expensive. Table 2-32 identifies the Fair Market Rent¹⁶ for Mendocino County by bedroom size as determined by HUD based on typical local rent levels. The Fair Market Rent for a two-bedroom apartment was $940 in 2009, while a one-bedroom apartment was $774.

Rental Affordability

In evaluating the survey findings for affordability according to HCD affordability levels (Table 2-34), it becomes clear there is a definite need for housing and/or assistance programs in the low-income categories. Only a few in the Ukiah region were in the low-income range. For the three bedroom units several of the units were in the above moderate income range, with over half the units in the Coastal region in the above moderate income category. Similar to the affordability table for housing prices, Table 2-34 shows maximum rent affordable to extremely low, very low, low, and moderate-income household by household size.

¹⁶ Fair Market Rent (FMR) is the rent established by HUD for units of varying sizes (by number of bedrooms). The level at which FMRs are set is based on the median rent distribution of standard quality rental housing units in the County. Adjustments are made to exclude public housing units, newly built units and substandard units.

Comparing housing affordability, shown in Table 2-30, with the cost of housing in Mendocino County, expressed in tables Table 2-31, Median Rent Price and 2-32 Fair Market Rents, it becomes clear that housing is generally only affordable to moderate-income households and certain households in the lower income group as well. The extremely and very low-income households are primarily limited to Section 8 rental housing or other subsidized rental housing complexes. However, many households in the middle or lower end of the low-income category require some type or subsidized rental housing.

2.5 AT-RISK HOUSING ANALYSIS

At-risk housing refers to assisted housing with affordability restrictions that are set to expire during the ten-year period from 2003-2013. This housing is at risk of losing its affordability controls and converting to market rate housing. However, no public or assisted housing is located in the unincorporated County. All of the County's public and assisted housing is located in the cities of Ukiah, Fort Bragg, and Willits. Actions are being taken to preserve the affordability of some units in those cities. For example, the Rural Community Housing Development Corporation with assistance from CDC is secured financing from several sources and purchased and rehabilitated Orchard Manor (64 units) and Orchard Village (48 units) in Ukiah and River Gardens (48 units) in Ft. Bragg in 2003.

2.6 HOUSING NEEDS ASSESSMENT

This section discusses existing and projected housing needs for the unincorporated area of the County. Existing housing needs address issues such as income, overcrowding, overpayment, and substandard housing. Future projected needs are based on the Mendocino Council of Governments' (MCOG) Regional Housing Needs Plan allocating housing units from 2008 to 2014.

Existing Housing Needs

Previous sections of the Housing Element describe the population, employment trends, household, and housing stock characteristics of Mendocino County. Drawing on that information and additional data, this section discusses existing housing needs in the unincorporated County area including overcrowding, overpayment, and rehabilitation and replacement needs, as well as the needs of lower-income households and other special need populations.

Overcrowding

The U.S. Bureau of the Census defines overcrowding as an average of more than one person per room in a housing unit (excluding kitchens, porches, and hallways). The percentage of overcrowded housing units is a general measure of the availability of housing units with adequate rooms for the households who occupy them. In 2000, the unincorporated and total County areas had similar proportions of overcrowding, at approximately 8 percent. The rate of overcrowding increased slightly in the unincorporated area, rising from 7.4 to 8 percent. This rate is nearly seven times the State average.

In 2000, there were 2,793 households living in overcrowded conditions in Mendocino County, 1,783 in the unincorporated area. As Table 2-35 shows, overcrowding is a more serious problem for rental households. Severe overcrowding, which is defined as more than 1.5 persons per rooms, was especially high among renters. Of the 1,111 households that were overcrowded, over half were severely overcrowded.

The Housing Conditions Survey prepared by the Community Development Commission in 2002 noted that the County's high level (14.8 percent) of overcrowding in rental dwellings is nearly seven times the State average. Overcrowding can lead to serious health and safety issues and a more rapid deterioration of the units. The study recommended that the County aggressively pursue the creation of new rental housing stock to alleviate the overcrowding identified in the existing rental housing stock.

Overpayment

Affordability problems occur when housing costs become so high in relation to income that households must pay an excessive proportion of their income for housing, or are unable to afford any housing and are homeless. A household is experiencing a housing cost burden if it is paying more than 30 percent of its gross income on housing.

According to the 2000 Census, 36 percent of renters and 25 percent of homeowners were paying more than 30 percent of their total income on housing. The incidence of overpaying for housing is much higher for renters than for owners and especially for households in the lowest income ranges (Table 2-37). For example, approximately 64 percent of renter households that earned less than $20,000 per year were overpaying and experienced a housing cost burden. For households earning less than $10,000, 70 percent overpaid for housing. Overall, renters also experienced a high level of severe housing cost burden. Of those paying 30 percent or more for housing, 42 percent spent over half of their income for shelter.

Substandard Housing

Most of the housing in Mendocino County is in sound condition, but a portion is not. Housing conditions are important in terms of not only health and safety, but also in economic terms. If routine maintenance is not performed and deficiencies are not corrected, the economic life of a house will be threatened.

One measure of housing condition is the number of housing units lacking complete plumbing and kitchen facilities. The 2000 Census reported 595 occupied housing units lacking complete plumbing facilities and 347 housing units lacking complete kitchen facilities in the unincorporated area (Table 2-38). A slightly higher percentage of rental units lacked complete kitchen facilities than did owner-occupied units.

Owner-occupied
Lacking complete plumbing facilities	354	2%

Renter-occupied
Lacking complete plumbing facilities	241	2%
Lacking complete kitchen facilities	128	2%

Another measure of housing condition is the physical inspection of housing units. The Housing Condition Survey, conducted in 2002, concluded that there is a serious need for the rehabilitation of a significant portion of the existing housing stock. The most needed repairs involve health and safety, federal housing quality standards, and compliance with State/local codes. Substandard housing has adverse social and economic implications and the private market, without pressure and incentives from the County, will not bring about change. Efforts to correct substandard housing and infrastructure issues should be an ongoing priority of the County.

The Housing Condition Survey recommended the following:

- The County should focus on a strong owner-occupied housing rehabilitation program. State CDBG and HOME programs are the most effective tools available to the County.
- A program to replace older mobile homes, especially those manufactured prior to 1976, to assist in removing these substandard units from the County housing stock.
- Code Enforcement and, to a lesser degree, Building Inspection staff should have a basic understanding of housing rehabilitation programs and be equipped to refer property owners to the housing authority for assistance.
- The County needs a supply of new market-rate housing and affordable rental units to meet the needs of low and moderate-income wage earners. This will encourage the demolition and/or rehabilitation of substandard units.
- The County should determine its multi-family zoning needs and establish priority areas to alleviate the saturated rental housing market.
